

A Network of: Global Market Intelligence

Why did you choose IIC Partners?

IIC Partners has a strong global presence in many of the global hubs in which our clients operate, which in turn provides us with a global presence. The quality of the firms in IIC Partners is exceptional with other partner firms working at similar levels and to the same standards. In addition, the global conferences provide a unique chance for us to interact with our partners, building trust and rapport which allows us to pass work to partner firms with confidence, and there is some excellent sharing of knowledge and best practices from other partner firms.

What do you gain out of the practice groups?

International market intelligence is key and having that knowledge to share with clients is invaluable. The practice groups allow you to share business and work as a truly international retained search firm where you can show a global presence to your clients.

What is your favorite part about being a member?

The people in IIC Partners are focused and striving for the same results – best practice and more business. They are a great group of colleagues to work with and we always have fun when we all get together.
