

A Network of: Trusted Partnerships

Local Identity, Global Reach

Why did you choose IIC Partners?

From what I've been told, Independent International Consultants (IIC) was an alliance of a few select businessmen who wanted to collaborate across borders and learn from one another. When searching for a network we were not looking to expand our client base, but expand with our clients and serve their needs internationally. We have been able to successfully deliver assignments that demand help outside of Norway. We trust our Partner firms, and feel that there is little risk when our clients need help abroad.

“ We were not looking to expand our client base, but expand with our clients and serve their needs internationally... ”

Have you done any organizational / internal development collaboration with other Partners?

We collaborate with other IIC Members Partners at a more local level than most. We have a yearly Scandinavian meeting with Managing Partners from other member firms in the region to share local knowledge. Our researchers also meet each other every 2 years – which enables us to confidently request assistance for research needs in other Scandinavian countries.

What is your favorite part of being a member?

Trust. I feel certain that when my beloved client needs help abroad, I know my Partners, from all over the world, will do everything to make my client happy.
